Accomplishment*

What did we accomplish last year? Was it what we wanted? Were the things we wanted to address given attention?

Jouju – the Japanese word for accomplishment – is one defining our achievements no matter how big or how small they may be – simply achieving what we set out to do is an accomplishment. Great growth takes place when we honor our goals by achieving them. Whatever your goal? Ask yourself, “Did I accomplish it?” Was it made a priority or was it just words? Did we allow ourselves to falter by easily offering ourselves excuses not to complete our task? Excuses are easy, especially if what we deem as accomplishments are only but words as well. Excuses are the loop holes we have given ourselves for an easy out. With enough excuses, we wind up believing them to be true. Thus, we have accomplished not to accomplish. Don't deny the chance to grow or to succeed.

The close of the year is behind us and of course the start of a new one has already begun. During these first few weeks, many of us will often take some time and reflect on the past 12 months. We evaluate and re-evaluate what we have done – what we have accomplished. With much hope, each of us have accomplished what we set out to achieve and are better for it.

Accomplishment is a personal endeavor. Consider all the opportunities that accomplishment has to offer – all the doors it can open. Happy New Year!

Instructor Certification Course at Camp

Are you interested in becoming a Hapkido instructor, certified by the World Hapkido Association? Do you hope to have a class or Dojang of your own one day? Are you interested in learning about methods of instruction, how people learn, how to motivate students, and how to better plan your classes? If so, this course is for you. A Level I Certification Course will be taught this February at Winter Camp on Friday, February 17 beginning at approximately 4:00 pm. The course is open for those ranked 2nd Geup and higher. The cost is $99 for almost five hours of specific instruction and materials to keep and be a continuous source of assistance.

Please contact either Master Jason Jung at jjung2381@yahoo.com or Dante J. James, Director of Education at dantejj@comcast.net

The number of participants is limited, so do not wait if you are interested.

Hapkido Terminology

A deeper look into the words of the way

손: Sohn - meaning hand or hands

살리기: Sahl-Li-Ki - meaning 'Live' or 'to activate'

Sohn Sahl-Li-Ki - meaning 'Live Hand' is to charge energy or 'Ki' onto your finger tips and wrist.

Sohn Nahl: side edge of your hand (knife hand)

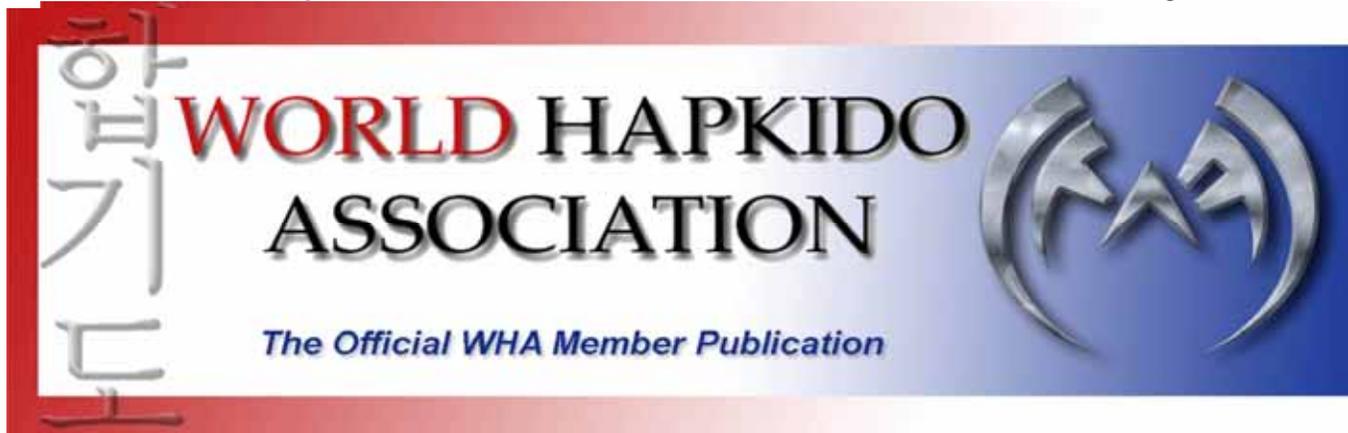

Sohn Ba-Dahk: Palms

Sohn Deung: Back of hand

Sohn Mok: Wrist

Sohn ka-Rahk: Fingers

If you have any further questions about hands or any other names of Hapkido techniques in Korean, please send your questions to HapkidoDictionary@worldhapkido.com and you will receive your answer by next newsletter

Being a Student At Jung's Martial Arts Center

Many times before I started training, Grand Master Jung had approached me about training. I was a little reluctant to start because I was at the age of 69 and still working to support my family with children in school. I was afraid of getting seriously injured and not be able to work anymore.

Grand Master Jung persuaded to come by telling me he had a class for seniors at 11:30 A.M. Every one took it easy, but still trained seriously.

There were physical challenges in my shoulders and neck (lots of pain). Also arthritis was in all the joints in my body.

The first 8 months were the hardest in the training because of the twisting for the warm up exercise being so foreign to my normal exercise each day.

However, the skillful guidance Grand Master Jung has made a believer out of me that most people can overcome their physical challenges, such as balance, flexibility, stress, and the ability to sleep soundly, just to name a few benefits.

Now at the age of 71, I was promoted to orange belt as of 12/19/11.

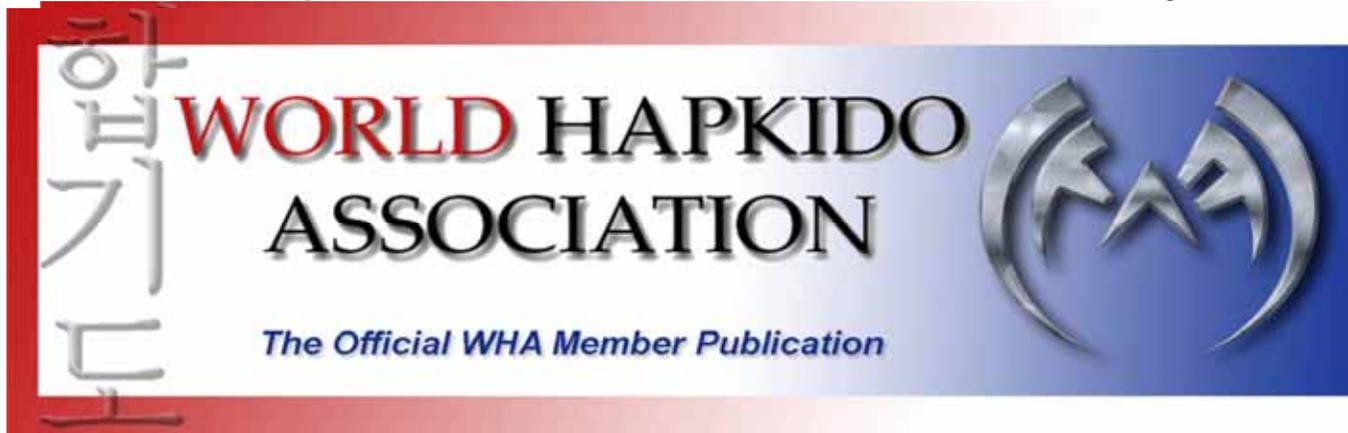

I have learned that neither age nor physical disabilities should prevent us from having a stronger body and being mentally sound.

His son Jason is a perfect example of how Grand Master Jung can help us to obtain a physically strong body in the skills of Hapkido, a positive attitude, confidence in ourselves and respect for other people.

Jason, even though he got injured about a quarter of the way in to his testing, managed to demonstrate his courage and a strong mind and body he has been able to develop through the skillful training of his father, Grand Master Jung.

Thank you Grand Master Jung!
